Wills for Young Married;

A complete webinar presented by attorney Robert Wolfgang, Jr. of Chesapeake Legal Counsel on Tuesday, July 14, 2020.

A favor to ask...

Over the years many clients have sent me notes of appreciation for my assistance in developing and designing their estate plan and, for some, in assisting in the administration of the estate and trust after the death of a loved one. Although I derive a lot of satisfaction from my daily work, such notes are the icing on the cake and I keep them all to pep myself up from time to time.

Perhaps the best gift a client can give me is to grace me with their presence. I do enjoy the face to face meetings but the term “meeting” seems to belittle what is more like conversation between friends. That is why the lockdown due to the pandemic has been so difficult. Law firms are deemed to be an essential business so we have not completely closed but there has been a marked decrease in activity and what work we do have takes much longer because of the restrictions when documents are signed before remote witnesses and a remote notary. But we persevere; and that’s where you can help.

Most of you were referred to me by a financial planner, an accountant, a banker or some other professional that you came into contact with. Unfortunately those contacts are few and far between in today's Covid environment and if someone finds their way to the office today it is a result of finding the firm on an internet search. If you are so inclined, I would be most grateful if you would post a review on Avvo, and/or on Google or Yelp.

You may not have heard of Avvo; it is a premier site when looking for any type of legal service. Here is a link that brings you directly to my Avvo page: <https://t.avvo.com/nGA1>
